Fragment From Imperfect Copy Presented to Library by Effingham B. Morris

ONE OF FIRST PRINTED

A page from the Gutenberg Bible, the most valuable book in the world, has just been presented to the University of Pennsylvania Library by Effingham B. Morris, a trustee from 1911 to 1921.

The book was the first ever printed by mechanical means. The work was finished in 1455. Though it was printed long ago, experts say that its workmanship has never been surpassed.

The colored decorations on the pages were laboriously inserted by the hand of some fifteenth century scribe—curiously enough, to make the printing look as though it were actually done by hand.

Dr. Asa Don Dickinson, the University librarian, says that the legend upon which the University has based its claim to the book is a story told by a Parisian who appeared in Paris with fifty copies of the Bible.

The people thought he must be possessed by the devil, for they realized that it took a lifetime to produce just one copy. That was their first introduction to the printed page.

The fragment in the University Library is from an imperfect copy discovered in Europe. A bookseller divided the book and sold the separate parts to book collectors in all parts of the world.

"There are few perfect copies in existence, perhaps there are not more than ten in the United States," Mr. Dickinson declared. "A complete volume is in the library of Joseph Widener. Twenty-five years ago a copy of the Gutenberg Bible sold for $50,000."

A cable dispatch from Leipzig today stated that the Leipzig Bible, one of the surviving copies of the Gutenberg Bible on parchment, was on the market and that German bibliophiles were trying to raise sufficient funds for its purchase and retention in Germany.

The dispatch added that in 1911 a copy of this Bible was sold to an American collector for $500,000.

The payment of such a high price is doubted by A. Edward Newton, bibliophile of this city.

"It seems absurd," he said today, "that a Gutenberg Bible could bring any such price. Henry E. Huntington, of New York, bought one about ten years ago for $50,000. Any idea of such a fabulous price may be termed as mad."

The University Library has acquired, as a result of Mr. Morris' generosity, "The Holy Experiment," painted and illuminated by Violet Oakley. The book contains excellent reproductions of the mural paintings by Miss Oakley in the Governor's reception room and in the Senate chamber of the Capitol at Harrisburg.

INTEREST RATE GOES UP

Saving Fund Institutions Here to Make It 4 Per Cent

Beginning January 1, the interest rate on deposits in the large mutual saving fund societies in this city will be increased to 4 per cent. The rate is now 3.5 per cent, established generally in 1909, prior to which time it had been gradually increased from 3 per cent.

Approximate total deposits in four institutions are $250,000,000. Increase in the interest rate means extra distribution of almost $900,000, based on annual interest, to almost 400,000 depositors. Total annual interest will approximate $10,000,000.

Managers of the Philadelphia Saving Fund Society, the Western Saving Fund Society and the Beneficial Saving Fund Society have approved the higher rate. The Saving Fund Society of Germantown and Vicinity managers will meet tonight to act on the proposal.

Children's Eyes Need Careful Watching

A great many ailments, peculiar to children, are wholly and solely due to eye-strain. Yet how often you hear the expression: "Oh, he'll outgrow that —" when attention is called to the backwardness, irritability, over-excitability, etc., of a child. It is a thoughtless statement and it may result in unintentional but cruel neglect. Defective vision does not correct itself any more than carious teeth, which you do not neglect.

If your child shows any such symptoms, call in your physician. He will tell you that only an oculist (eye physician) is competent to determine the cause and, if the eyes are at fault, as is so often the case, prescribe the proper treatment and glasses. And delays may be dangerous.
